MUNITIONS OF WAR.

How Arms Were Furnished to Hawaiian Revolutionists.

STARTLING STATEMENT MADE.

It Will Undoubtedly Create a Stir in Washington, as Congress Is Now Endeavoring to Get from the State Department All Information Possible on This Much Discussed Subject.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—The sworn statement of the captain of the Waimanalo, the vessel that landed at Honolulu the arms and ammunition used by the royalists in the recent attempted revolution, has been received in this city, and will undoubtedly create a stir in Washington, as congress is now endeavoring to get from the state department all information possible as to the identity of the subjects engaged in the revolution, and of those who were instrumental in furnishing arms to the conspirators and revolutionists.

The captain says that he was engaged by W. H. Rickard to deliver the arms and ammunition by the Waimanalo. He was to receive $10,000, of which $1,000 was to be paid in cash. His instructions were to go off the coast, where a schooner was to meet him, from which he was to receive the arms. This schooner was called the W. H. Rickard. He was told that she had been towed out of San Francisco and the arms put on board her. Off Waikiki two boats came alongside the vessel and the arms and ammunition were transferred to them. There were 300 carbines and several sack of ammunition. The captain disclaims all knowledge of who shipped the goods and who paid for them.

NEW COAL COMBINE.

It Is a Rival of the Hocking Valley Combination.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 6.—Another big coal combine was effected in this city yesterday, the action being a sequel to that taken recently by the coal operators of the Hocking valley, who consolidated their interests. The operators controlling the coal lands on the Ohio Central railroad followed suit yesterday, as they say, to fight fire with fire, or, rather, protect themselves. The companies in the consolidation are: Sunday Creek Coal company, the Phoenix Coal company, W. P. Read & Company, Comtright, Kistler & Company, and the Northern Fuel company.

A meeting of representatives of these companies was held in this city yesterday, the result of which was the incorporation of the Ohio Central Fuel company, with a capital stock of $100,000. The object, as stated, is to operate mining property in an economical manner, but the real object is to meet the Hocking combine. The new concern will control the entire output of the coal lands on the Ohio Central railroad.

A SINGULAR ACCIDENT.

Two Passengers Seriously Injured by Broken Glass.

ELKHART, Ind., Feb. 6.—A singular accident, in which two men were seriously injured, occurred on the Lake Shore road, east of New Carlisle. Passenger train No. 23 was running at a tremendous rate of speed, making up lost time. On the opposite track a freight train was approaching. The passengers were suddenly horrified by the shattering and splintering of glass and timber from the passenger coaches, which flew in every direction.

The cause of the accident was due to an open door on the passing freight train, torn from its fastenings by the rush of air, and in coming in contact with the passenger coach it had torn out six sections of windows and their casings. The injured passengers were cared for at New Carlisle. One of the injured men had a shoulder badly mashed and the other had his face frightfully cut with glass.

The Family Escaped.

PORT REPUBLIC, N. J., Feb. 6.—The report sent out from Atlantic City to the effect that W. H. Fenton, his wife and three children had been burned to death in this town is erroneous. Fenton's residence was destroyed by fire early, but the family escaped by jumping from the windows.

Noted Pastor Dead.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 6.—Rev. E. F. Wunderlich, pastor of the German Methodist Episcopal church, South Side, died yesterday of la grippe, aged 65 years. He was one of the first German missionaries and has had charge at Lafayette and Evansville, Ind., and Cleveland and Toledo.

Child's Narrow Escape.

MIDDLETOWN, O., Feb. 6.—The large two-story frame house on south Broadway, owned by W. D. Sheeley, was burned. The house was occupied by George Long and Henry O'Neil. Long's 6-year-old daughter Jessie had been sick with diphtheria and had a narrow escape.

Minister Romero Sees Peace.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Minister Romero of Mexico regards the latest published reports on the Mexican-Guatemalan situation as indicative of a pacific tendency of affairs. The minister has not as yet received definite advices from his government as to the course to be pursued.

An Awful Charge.

BRYAN, O., Feb. 6.—Thomas Hughes of Edgerton, charged with allowing a 3-months-old child to freeze to death, was arrested and placed in jail here. The grand jury is now in session.

BOUND AND ROBBED.

An Old Couple Are Roughly Treated by Masked Burglars.

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Feb. 6.—A messenger has just arrived in this city, who says that an aged couple, John Engle and wife, living 10 miles north of this city, were robbed and brutally beaten Monday night, about 12 o'clock, by four masked men. The door was broken open with a heavy piece of timber, and the thoroughly scared couple were tied hand and foot in separate beds.

The robbers were none too gentle with them, except that they protected them with sufficient clothing to keep them from freezing to death. The house was then thoroughly ransacked, and all money taken. It is not known how much, but it is quite a sum. The old man, who is past 85, freed himself at 7 o'clock next morning, and then cut the thongs which held his wife, who is nearly 80. It is feared the old man will die. Persons in the neighborhood are suspected of the crime.

Slowly Starving to Death.

WABASH, Ind., Feb. 6.—Samuel Bowman, the farmer of Chester, township, who has, owing to a disease of the stomach, been unable to partake of food for two months, continues his long fast. He is very weak and nothing but skin and bone. At times he appears to have a ravenous appetite and begs for something to eat, which no sooner is brought than he pushes it away. His hold on life is wonderful as his physicians predicted the end would come long ago. Mr. Bowman's death, however, is only a matter of a short time.

Bruiser and a Cannibal.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 6.—John Field, a two-year burglar at the penitentiary from Hamilton county, got mad at John Landis, foreman of the hot polishing shop, because the latter had reported him as having failed to perform his prescribed task. Field gave an illustration of how mad he was by knocking three holes in Mr. Landis' head with an iron bar and, not satisfied with that, started to eat him up. He only got as far as the jaw, out of which he bit a large piece, when his gustatory exercise was suddenly ended by some guards.

Why He Disappeared.

KOKOMO, Ind., Feb. 6.—John E. Holman, the Kokomo attorney who disappeared last Friday, has not been located. It is now known that he could not have taken more than $1,300 with him, $873 belonging to Dickerson & Company of Richmond and $400 from the State Building and Loan association of Indianapolis, for which he was agent. Holman's debts are alleged to aggregate $8,000 and his personal friends will lose heavily by endorsing for him.

Another Mexican Veteran Gone.

ANDERSON, Ind., Feb. 6.—John Probasco died suddenly of heart disease at his country home, near here, yesterday. He was 70 years of age. He was in the Mexican and late wars and a member of the Mexican Veterans' association. He was a brother of millionaire Henry Probasco of Cincinnati. No one but his wife was with him when death came, and she called the neighbors by ringing the dinner bell.

Failed to Make Proper Reports.

VINCENNES, Ind., Feb. 6.—Deputy State Mine Inspector Martin of Brazil has applied for warrants for the arrest of Herbert Wheatley, superintendent of the Prospect Hill coal mines, claiming that the mines are not provided with sufficient means of escape, and that the superintendent failed to report the death of Lorenzo Todd, a young man who was killed by falling down a shaft.

Suffering on the Hennepin.

PRINCETON, Ills., Feb. 6.—On account of the intensely cold weather all the men employed by the government on the Hennepin canal have been laid off for two weeks, and those employed by the contractors have been greatly reduced in numbers. A large part of the men are living in tents at considerable distances from villages, and much suffering is reported.

Partnership Contract in Court.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 6.—Earl Peters, administrator of Oscar G. Peters, began proceedings in the common pleas court to secure a construction of the partnership contract of the Columbus Buggy company, of which the deceased was a member. The petition says the partnership property aggregates $1,357,000, which is largely in excess of its debts.

Jury Decision.

ZANESVILLE, O., Feb. 6.—Judge Munson, in the Cherry murder case, decided that even if the law authorizing the appointment of jury commissioners were held unconstitutional, indictments returned by grand juries appointed under the contested law were valid, as the commissioners were acting in a de facto capacity.

Five Dollars For Throat Cutting.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Feb. 6.—Charles Baxter and Dempster Cox of Alpha, Scott county, became involved in a fight and Baxter cut Cox's throat, the latter almost bleeding to death. He is still in a precarious condition. Strange to relate, the assailant was only fined $5 for throat-cutting by Justice Norris.

Married in the Cold.

VERSAILLES, KY., Feb. 6.—Washington Troxell and Mrs. Martha Updike were married near Jetta station. At their request the ceremony was performed by Rev. Polk South out of doors in zero weather, in the middle of the public highway.

Only Fifty Degrees Below.

GRANTSBURG, Wis., Feb. 6.—The cold weather climax was reached here this morning, when it was 50 below zero.

KILLING IN KANSAS.

A Famous Case Recalled After Fourteen Years.

JIM NUTT DYING OF A WOUND.

He Was the Man That Killed Lawyer W. W. Dukes in Uniontown, Pennsylvania. A Woman Puts an End to His Existence After She Herself Is Fatally Shot Details of the Tragedy.

ATLHISON, Kan., Feb. 6.—Jim Nutt, made famous for killing Lawyer W. W. Dukes in Uniontown, Pa., over a decade ago, because he seduced Miss Nutt, is dying from wounds inflicted early yesterday morning by Mrs. John Payton, who committed the act after Nutt, in a drunken rage, had fatally shot her. Neither can live. Leonard Coleman, a hired man, who attempted to save Mrs. Payton's life, is lying seriously wounded, having received a bullet from Nutt's revolver, but will recover.

The crime was most horrible and unprovoked. The prominence of the families concerned made it more sensational. The Nutts and Dukes were at one time prominent politicians in Pennsylvania, while Coleman, who is 27 years of age, originally came from New York, where he was well known. Fourteen years ago W. W. Dukes, then a prominent lawyer in Uniontown, Pa., was killed by Nutt for having seduced Miss Nutt. Before that the Nutts and Dukes were at war a good deal, and during one of several encounters Dukes killed Nutt's father. He was acquitted, however, making the plea of self-defense. When young Nutt came to trial he was also promptly acquitted, the trial creating a great sensation at the time.

Shortly afterwards he moved to Kansas, where he managed his mother's farm. He was considered a good citizen and became prosperous. Until two years ago the Paytons worked for Nutt, living on his farm. Their relations became strained, however, and the Payton family, consisting of the parents and five children, rented a farm eight miles from Nutt's place from Mrs. A. E. Bradbury. Payton has been away from home most of the present winter cutting ice, during which time Nutt renewed his relations with the family.

Nothing out of the way was discernible in his conduct, however, until Monday, when he sauntered into the Payton household at a late hour under the influence of liquor. Payton was absent and Coleman, the hired man, was the only other man on the premises. Nutt, who had been on a week's spree, was in no pleasant mood and gruffly ordered Mrs. Payton to get him some supper. Mrs. Payton complied, though more through fear than because she cared to, and scented trouble, she quietly got the children from the room. As he ate, Nutt became more abusive toward Mrs. Payton and seemed to be turning mad. When he had finished eating he deliberately drew his revolver and pointing it at the now thoroughly frightened woman cried: "I'm going to kill you." Before she could make a move he had carried his threat into effect and sent three bullets into her body. The shots attracted Coleman, who rushed into the house with an ax in his hand. The instant he entered Nutt leveled his weapon at him and fired. Two shots struck the would-be rescuer. He fell to the floor and for a time lay unconscious in the blood that poured from his wounds.

In the meantime Mrs. Payton, with a superhuman effort, had raised herself from the floor and secured the ax. Nutt had become weakened now and literally sank in his tracks. Rushing to where he lay the woman, her wounds bleeding profusely and herself weak from excitement and loss of blood, ruined blow after blow upon Nutt's head. Not until her victim's head was a mass of jelly did she cease to longer wield the ax. Then she sank to the floor and went into a state of unconsciousness that lasted several hours. When Coleman finally recovered consciousness, he found both Nutt and Mrs. Payton lying in great pools of their blood. Tying Nutt to a chair lest he should escape, Coleman gave the alarm. When assistance arrived the woman was beyond help. As soon as Nutt's wounds were dressed he was removed to Atchison, arriving here yesterday evening. Both he and Mrs. Payton are too badly injured to live.

NUTT-DUKES TRAGEDY.

The Kansas Killing Recalls a Similar Case in Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 6.—The Nutt-Dukes tragedy, which is recalled by the Kansas killing, was the reigning sensation in Pennsylvania in 1883 and it gained national notoriety. Captain Nutt was state treasurer and M. L. Dukes was a member of the legislature from Fayette county. Both lived in Uniontown. Captain Nutt had brilliant war record, Dukes had been paying attention to Lizzie Nutt, the captain's daughter, and was engaged to be married to her. In the spring of 1883, Dukes, as an excuse for breaking the engagement, wrote a letter to Captain Nutt, who was in Harrisburg, which was offensive and improper, relating to Lizzie. On receipt of the letter, Captain Nutt started for home to investigate the allegations made in the letter. He wrote to Dukes to meet him, but instead Dukes bought a revolver and kept out of the way of Captain Nutt.

Finally Captain Nutt went unarmed to Dukes' office. The two were in a back room together, and what passed between them is only a matter of conjecture. Dukes shot and killed Captain Nutt with the revolver he had bought a short time before. Dukes set up a plea of self-defense and was acquitted. The court in discharging the jury, plainly intimated that it had failed to perform its duty properly. There was general dissatisfaction over the verdict.

In the meantime young Nutt came home from a commercial college he had been attending in New York. Dukes continued to live in Uniontown and frequently passed Young Nutt and members of the family on the street. Nutt made no threats, but often referred to the killing of his father and the acquittal of Dukes. One day he was standing in front of the Uniontown postoffice talking to a friend. Dukes passed. Without saying a word Nutt followed him and fired four shots at him from a revolver. Three of the bullets struck Dukes and inflicted fatal wounds. A plea of insanity was made by the defense, and after 10 days Nutt was acquitted.

ANOTHER TRAIN HELD UP.

The Company's Money Safe, but the Passengers Robbed.

PECUERO, Colo., Feb. 6.—The western express on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road, bound for Colorado and California, was held up one mile west of Sylvia, Reno county, Kan., at 11:25 o'clock Monday night, by four masked men, who signaled danger. Two of the robbers covered the engineer and fireman, and two went to the express car.

For some reason they failed to effect an entrance, and then they went to the coaches and made the passengers give up all their valuables. The train was held for an hour and 10 minutes. After the men left, Conductor McGrath ran the train back to Sylvia and gave the alarm, and Sheriff Patton was on the trail of the robbers with his posse in a few minutes, but has not yet caught them.

FOUR PEOPLE BADLY HURT.

The Result of a Bad Accident to a Hunting Party.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Feb. 6.—At Savoie, 16 miles east of here, a toboggan sled was coming down a long hill at a furious rate of speed when it came into collision with the side of a bridge over a small stream. The six occupants were hurled high in the air and fell from 50 to 60 feet from where the sled struck. The toboggan was crushed into a thousand pieces.

John Osborn was hurt internally and had a huge piece of flesh torn from his thigh. Dr. Scott had an arm broken. Phil Hazel had his leg and arm fractured. Azure Phillips is cut on the head and side. The other occupants escaped serious injury.

Vessel Divedue.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The steamship La Gascogne has not yet been sighted. While any number of theories for her long delay are being advanced, the agents of the French line console themselves with the most probable one, which is that some accident has happened to the vessel's machinery which would necessitate her proceeding under sail. This hope is accentuated by the fact that her boilers and engines are almost new, having been substituted for the old ones during an overhauling of the vessel last summer with the purpose of increasing her speed and making her a seven instead of an eight day vessel.

Japanese Meet With Reverses.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A despatch from Hong-Kong says letters have been received there from New-Chwang, dated Jan. 29, which report that the Japanese are meeting with increasing difficulty in their advance. The Japanese sustained a slight reverse between Hai-Cheng and Liao-Yang at the hands of 1,600 followers of a rebel squatter named Han. A Manchurian battalion, failing to give support to the Chinese, its commander was promptly beheaded for cowardice. The cold is intense, registering 13 degrees below zero.

Tobacco Smoked.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 6.—The Bodenmann tobacco warehouse, at 57 West Front street, the largest and handsomest building of its kind in the city, the property of the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse company, was entirely destroyed by fire yesterday. Over 3,000 hogsheads of tobacco in the building were burned, with a loss of $240,000. The loss on the building will reach $60,000.

Killed by an Avalanche.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, Feb. 6.—Despatches received here from Molde, Aas, Sand, Bergen and Christiansand report that at these places earthquakes were experienced between 12:15 and 12:45 yesterday morning. The shocks ran in the direction of southeast to northwest. Eleven persons were killed by the fall of an avalanche at Kvammen.

Progress of a Murder Trial.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Edmund Jordan, Annie Mahoney and John Jersey were arraigned today for the murder of Janitor Alfred D. Barnes, whose mutilated body was found in a world's fair packing box last December. Jordan, who had confessed to the killing, will plead self-defense, and he, with Jersey and Annie Mahoney pleaded not guilty yesterday. Jordan was Barnes' assistant at the Hiawatha flat buildings, and claimed he killed his employer during a quarrel. The day was spent in selecting a jury.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

There is but little, if any, doubt that the solid business interests of the country endorse President Cleveland's plan for reforming the currency and curing the Government's financial troubles.

The President has received a very large number of letters and telegrams from prominent citizens, chambers of commerce and other trade organizations in all parts of the country heartily indorsing the recommendations contained in his recent message, and recognizing the necessity for immediate action for the preservation of the national credit and public faith.

In a series of resolutions adopted on January 31st, the Committee on Trade of the Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va., Cotton Exchange says:

"In the opinion of our merchants it is eminently desirable in the close relations we bear towards foreign countries that our standard of value should be the same as other nations of the first class, both for the facile exchange of commodities and for obtaining credit from older nations on easy terms when desired, and we heartily indorse the plans of the President contained in his message, and express the earnest hope that Congress will reduce them to legal shape at the earliest possible moment."

The Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce urges the "immediate adoption of a law substantially embodying the recommendations made by the President in his special message." Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce in Baltimore, Cleveland, Boston, and many other cities join in substantially the same sentiments. A veteran member of the Union League Club, of New York, feels no hesitation in asserting that he voices the sentiments of that organization, when he says that the President's message is strongly and heartily approved.

A Michigan State Senator says: "The public faith and honor must be maintained—permit me to congratulate you upon your recent message to Congress."

A prominent Chicago microscopist says: "I am only one of thousands who have confidence in your courage, and who are waiting and hoping that you will be neither coerced nor coaxed into yielding to any financial fallacies."

These are but a few of the many warm endorsements of the President's recommendations. It remains to be seen whether Congress can be aroused to its duty in the matter.

THE COMMERCIAL GAZETTE makes the profound observation that "No Democratic statesman has yet found courage enough to assert that the McKinley act failed to raise revenue enough to support the departments of the Government." "Oh, yes, plenty of them," replies the Enquirer, "and Republican statesmen, too. Indeed, everybody who has ordinary intelligence on the subject knows that the McKinley law failed to raise the necessary revenue for the support of the Government, and that the Government was delivered over to the present administration in a practically bankrupt condition."

COLONEL W. O. BRADLEY is working the Republican papers of the State for all that's in sight, although he seems to have a "cinch" on the G. O. P. nomination for Governor.

ELECTRICAL KITCHENS.

How Coal and Gas Will be Replaced in Cooking—Methods Now in Operations.

[Cincinnati Tribune.] Electricity has at last invaded the kitchen. The cook stove as a thing of coal or gas is doomed. In its place is to come the electric stove. There is to be no more scouring, for there is to be no soot of any sort. Heat pure and simple is all with which the cook need reckon in the new dispensation. That heat can be turned off or on and degree of it regulated by the pulling out or pushing in of a plug. Overheated kitchens and all the rest of the worry about "the fires" may be done away with.

But the efficiency of the kitchen fires will not be impaired. Within two minutes after the electric current has been turned on it will give out a steady heat which will often enable the cook to leave her cooking to attend to itself. In an electric kitchen each utensil is independent of every other. It has its own wires and therefore its own heat. In its simplest form the outfit is simply a table on which stands the various utensils, such as kettles, saucepans, boilers and tins and so on. At the back of the table is a sort of keyboard. Connection is made as in the telephone keyboard by simply thrusting a plug at the end of a wire into that place through which it can effect communication with a given place. The saucepan or kettle or whatever is then immediately subject to great heat.

This electric cooking is only beginning. At St. Louis and Boston it has indeed "caught on." Many hotels and private houses are supplied in this way. The Electric Club of St. Louis and the Minnesota Club at St. Paul are famous for their "electric spreads." In New York also the idea of electric kitchens is steadily gaining ground. "Swelldom" is said to have taken it up, and the assurance is also given that when "Swelldom" takes hold of a thing in earnest that thing succeeds.

A special correspondent of the New York Recorder visited one of the New York kitchens quite recently. This kitchen is in the home of George Preston Peabody, 26 Monroe Place, Brooklyn. It has been in operation for some two years, and has given excellent results. Bath, cooking and laundering is done by electric currents.

"As to laundering," writes this correspondent, "modern electric science has made its very prettiest innovation in respect to ironing. In a laundry equipped electrically but one iron is used. The conventional green-covered wires are attached to it, and once the current is turned on the iron never gets cold, but always retains an even heat. There is no 'testing' needed, an operation performed by a feminine forefinger, with the aid of a little saliva, and no carrying back and forth of the heavy weights."

At present there is one objection to the use of electricity in the kitchen. It is expensive. But with each year more economical applications of it are found. Before long it will be cheaper to cook by electricity than by coal or gas. That such an end is desirable witness the following rhapsody upon electric cooking that comes direct from New York:

"In one compartment of a tiny oven," writes an electric enthusiast, "meat is being roasted daintily in its own juices; in another bread is being baked, while above where the heat is less, already cooked viands have been slipped in to keep warm.

"There has been no hour spent in coaxing a refractory 'draught' to work nor a recalcitrant fire to burn. Far away, in some cavernous factory, sooty workmen are attending to that. They start the heat and it flows, as it were, along the wires, to be used or turned off at will. Once the cooking is done, the removal of the plug turns the heat off, and there is no waste of fuel, no fire to be kept up for hours more."

"I have eaten of its products, or I should not undertake to praise in this way. In one corner of this great city, up in one of its big office buildings, is an establishment where an 'electric lunch' is served at noon each week day. A delicious though simple bill of fare was served when I sampled its viands—roast beef done to a turn, succulent and juicy; potatoes baked and browned in the same pan; tiny biscuits, perfectly raised, because subjected to an even heat, with the fire neither above, below, nor at the side of them, but warmth on every side. No cooking have I tasted that was more satisfactory than that which came from the hands of the grizzled old chef here, who had discarded live coals for the plug and green-covered wires.

"We sat in the kitchen itself, almost in against the ovens, and yet the heat was not noticeable. No scorching blasts descended upon us, nor was there a vestige of the odor that usually accompanies culinary operations."

The assessed value of property at Newport this year is $12,287,491.

MRS. NORA KEHOE.

One of Maysville's Good Women Called to Her Reward at an Early Hour This Morning.

Mrs. Nora Kehoe died this morning at 2:15 o'clock. For several years she had been a sufferer from asthma, but during the past few weeks there had been but slight traces of the disease. Her death was from old age.

Mrs. Kehoe was born in Queens County, Ireland, November 26, 1819. She came to America in 1842, and to Maysville in 1861 and here the rest of her life was spent.

She was a Christian woman, and while her large family of children live in different parts of the country she enjoyed the sweet consolation of seeing them all a few weeks before her death. She was conscious to the last moments and gave minute instructions as to the details of her funeral and burial.

Deceased had the tenderest care of her family and relatives during her last days, and a few minutes before her death she said to her niece, Mrs. James Fristoe, "Lizzie, your mother fell asleep and died; I desire to go the same way." In all her sufferings there was no word of complaint; she met death without fear, dying calmly and peacefully.

She leaves eight children, Mrs. J. T. Harahan, of Chicago, Thomas Kehoe, a marble dealer of Knoxville, Tenn., William, official stenographer of the National House of Representatives, Hon. J. D. Kehoe, head of the Treasury printing department, Washington, D. C., Dr. H. C. Kehoe, of Flemingsburg, Messrs. Mark and James, of this city, and Mrs. Charles Reed, of the county.

The arrangements for the funeral have not been made on account of Mr. and Mrs. Harahan being in Florida, where they went a week or so ago for their health, but it will probably take place on next Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Her life had been one of devotion to her children, and she had the sweet consolation in her declining years of enjoying the reward of her tender care and faithful ministrations.

THE VALUE OF THE BIBLE.

Remarks of Dr. Hays on This Subject in His Sermon Last Sunday Morning.

Dr. Hays, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, preached on the Value of the Bible last Sunday morning. During the discourse he said:

I have observed James Russell Lowell quoted in a way that was calculated to make the impression that he deprecated the value of Christianity and the Bible. Now I like quotations from really great and good men when they truly represent and do not pervert their views, and I too will make a quotation from Mr. Lowell:

"When the microscopist searchs of skepticism which has hunted the heavens and sounded the seas to disprove the existence of the Creator has turned its attention to human society, and has found a place on this planet ten miles square where a decent man can live in comfort and security, supporting and educating his children unspoiled and unpolluted; a place where age is revered, infancy nourished, manhood respected and womanhood honored;—when skepticism can find such a place where the gospel of Christ has not gone and cleared the way and laid down the foundations, and made decency and security possible, it will then be in order for champions of skepticism to move thither and ventilate their views."

In order to adapt these weighty words to our own times, I will put them in this way: When the promoters of European rationalism who are proclaiming their principles in this country as something entirely new, can point to a spot on this globe ten miles square in which during the one hundred years of the existence of their views they have made it possible, without the aid of Christianity and the Bible, for a decent man to live in comfort and security, for children to be raised unspoiled and unpolluted, for age to be revered, infancy nourished, manhood respected and womanhood honored, then it will be in order for them to undertake to substitute their principles for the Christianity and religion of the Bible in Maysville. But if they cannot, (and we challenge them to the task), then in the language of Mr. Lowell again: "They may well hesitate to rob this Christian community of its hope, and humanity of its faith in that Saylor who alone has given to man that hope of life eternal which makes life tolerable and society possible, robs death of its terrors and the grave of its gloom."

The Bulletin's Mt. Olivet Correspondent Gives Some Plain Talk About the Enterprise.

Tora Wood now goes to Johnson skating, and skating only.

Grant Dayton has returned from the Blue Grass, looking well.

Younger Alexander, cashier of the Bracken County Bank, was here Monday, the guest of S. R. Rice.

Colonel R. M. Marshall and Henry M. Pyles, of Sardis, were here Monday.

The heavy freezes have not damaged the fruit, so we are informed by several farmers.

If there is anything in the twaddle about the traditional ground hog story, we will have six weeks more winter in these parts.

Colored George Britton has concluded to farm it this season. The town as a whole is at a loss to know how it can spare him for so long a time.

Rev. W. A. Penn preached the funeral of Geo. Blackburn, the young man who died Friday from the effects of swallowing a piece of glass while eating breakfast.

We are pleased to see that your esteemed contemporary, the Public Ledger, has come to the front in favor of rapid transit communication with Olivet. Now if Brother Davis will take the pains to make a careful and impartial investigation, we feel assured he will be fully convinced that the proposed electric line will be a paying enterprise in every way. However, if the result of such an investigation proves conclusively that the net earnings of the line would not pay a reasonable interest on the amount needed for its construction and equipment, the people of not only Mt. Olivet and Robinson County, but along the entire route, would take no further steps to secure it, as there are not a few persons of means outside of Maysville who would freely take stock in the line as an investment, but would be loath to subscribe a dollar if there is no prospect of getting something in return. Money is not blooming on trees now-a-days, and those who have it will not invest it except where it pays them reasonable returns. There is no scheme or scheming of any kind in this matter—it is a matter of business wholly. When all the facts are brought to the surface and it is shown indisputably that the line will pay, it will be built—if not to Mayville, then to some other point. The people of this section have been isolated and suffered loss from the want of adequate shipping facilities long enough, and they propose being connected with some point on the outside world, or know some plausible reason why the end cannot be attained.
